New Ohio Idle Pay Bill Put On Shelf After Long Wrangle In State Senate

COLUMBUS (AP)—The 1955 Legislature will fail to produce an unemployment compensation bill, Republican leaders predicted today, either to increase benefits or conform Ohio law to the auto industry's guaranteed wage.

The Senate, however, probably will adopt a resolution instructing the Legislative Service Commission to study the possible effect of guaranteed wage systems on the operations and fiscal standing of the $600 million Ohio unemployment compensation fund.

The Senate yesterday on a strict party-line vote rejected, 12-21, a Democratic amendment to permit unemployed workers to receive payments from guaranteed wage plans without reducing unemployment benefits.

Then came the blowup. After nearly two hours of debate in which Democrats attacked and Republicans praised proposed changes in the jobless benefit law, Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) urged that the unemployment compensation bill be sent back to committee.

No one expects it to come out again. Asked if it might be revived, Mechem commented: "It's in mighty poor health."

Mechem's move completed the stage setting for Ohio voters to decide next November on a CIO-sponsored bill to set a top figure of $50 a week for jobless benefits. The House has ignored the bill the CIO submitted by petition. CIO leaders appeared pleased the Republican Senate threw in the sponge on its bill.

While this was happening, the House adopted a bill radically changing the workmen's compensation system and its benefits. The bill now goes to a Senate which insists the Legislature can clean up its work and end its regular session June 23.

2 Top Priests Said Expelled By Argentina

State-Roman Catholic Dispute Continues To Its Steady Boil

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Well informed sources said today that two Roman Catholic prelates accused in connection with last week's disorders have been expelled from Argentina.

They are the Rt. Rev. Manuel Tato, vicar general and auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and the Rt. Rev. Roman Pablo Novoa, canon deacon of the archdiocese.

Informed quarters said they were escorted to Ezeiza Airport by federal police and placed aboard an Argentine plane which departed for Rome. Both are natives of this country. They had been taken yesterday to police headquarters for questioning in connection with the disorders, in which more than a score were injured.

Ike Directing Government In Secret Center

Entire Military Staff Leaves Pentagon For Practice Alert

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sirens screaming warning of impending atomic attack sent President Eisenhower and 15,000 other officials scurrying today for hideouts scattered in a 300-mile arc about the capital.

The mock warning touched off a great, three-day test of how the executive branch of the government could function in event an enemy actually did rain death and destruction on Washington and 48 major U. S. cities.

Congress took no part in the exercise.

"Operation Alert 1956," as it was designated, contemplated that the officials would have 3 hours and 20 minutes notice in advance of the theoretical attack.

The big question was: Could the President and his briefcase brigade, embracing key workers from 31 agencies, get out of town and swiftly take up, through emergency communications, the grim business of reorganizing the shattered nation and striking back at the enemy?

EISENHOWER, promptly at the first sound of the siren, grabbed his hat and walked hurriedly from his office to an automobile which sped away for his secret relocation center. Five other cars were in the presidential motorcade.

Fourteen big helicopters took off at the Pentagon, carrying Secretary of Defense Wilson and virtually the entire top military command.

During the drill, Wilson said, "The Joint Chiefs of Staff will confer on military measures to be taken to handle the assumed military problems."

The expectation is that the test will show how efficient is the emergency setup already planned, and perhaps indicate ways it can be improved.

German Chief Gives Pledge

Adenauer To Shun Russian Suggestions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington officials say goodbye today to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, apparently reassured that Soviet blandishments have had no measurable effect on him.

One official who would not be quoted by name summed up this way the impression Adenauer is leaving as he flies to Boston: "He's going to Moscow. He's not going until after the Big Four meeting in Geneva. He's not giving an inch to the Soviet push for neutralizing Germany."

Adenauer has been asked to go to Moscow for talks about improving diplomatic and trade relations.

As if to discount fears in some quarters here that he and his fellow countrymen might be swept off their feet by a Russian offer to let Germany reunite if it would become neutral and repudiate the obligations just assumed under the North Atlantic Treaty, Adenauer over and over promised German steadfastness:

1. In a joint statement with President Eisenhower after their meeting yesterday:

"IT WAS CONFIRMED that in their combined opinion the concept of neutrality is in no way applicable to Germany and that only in collective security arrangements can Germany assure its independence."

2. In his speech to newsmen: "I can assure you most emphatically, Germany will honor her obligations. The neutrality or neutralization of Germany would in a relatively short time permit Soviet Russia to extend her power over all of Western Europe."

3. In reply to a question: "If there were a choice between reunification and NATO and we chose reunification, within a very short time this would lead to Germany becoming a satellite state. We want Germany free."

Texas Man Dies Of Crash Injuries

Robert W. Niehaus, 67, Succumbs Six Days After 2-Car Accident

Killer County — Pickaway — belatedly claimed its 10th traffic fatality of 1955 Tuesday afternoon.

Robert W. Niehaus, a 67-year-old Plainview, Texas printer, injured in a two-car crash nearly a week ago, died at 2:50 p. m. in White Cross Hospital in Columbus. His wife, Bernice, 71, was killed instantly in the accident which occurred at the intersection of Routes 56 and 104.

Another serious accident reportedly occurred at 11:20 a. m. Wednesday on Island Rd. near the Red River Bridge, west of Circleville. Charles W. Smith, 20, of Circleville Route 3, suffered a possible skull fracture and other injuries when his car allegedly sideswiped a truck.

Dixon-Yates Battle Nearing

Private Vs. Public Power Issue Debated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic and Republican battle lines were drawn drum-tight today as the House headed into another tussle over the controversial Dixon-Yates power project.

At issue is a section of an appropriations bill which would reject an Eisenhower administration request for $6½ million to pay for a transmission line to link the Tennessee Valley Authority system with a private power plant at West Memphis, Ark., on the other side of the Mississippi River.

Ground already has been broken for the $107 million power plant, which is being built by the Dixon-Yates utility group under a 25-year contract with the Atomic Energy Commission. The Dixon-Yates power would replace energy now furnished AEC by the TVA.

In a renewal of last year's public-vs.-private power fight, the House Appropriations Committee voted to shift the $6½ million from the proposed transmission line, which would hook up with a Dixon-Yates line in the middle of the river.

THE CHANGE would assign it to start construction of a new steam generating plant for TVA at Fulton, Tenn. The steam plant would cost about $90 million.

The $6½ million transmission line item represented only a tiny fraction of a $1,285,746,242 bill to finance the TVA, the AEC, several federal power programs and the vast Army Engineers navigation and flood control programs during the bookkeeping year starting July 1. But that small item promised to furnish the biggest fight.

The bill is due to reach the voting stage tomorrow. Final action might not come until Friday.

British Rail Strike Ends After 17 Days

LONDON (AP)—Britain's nationwide railroad strike was over today after 17 days of street traffic jams, piled-up warehouses and looming shortages of coal and raw materials.

In London's vast terminals, the eerie silence was shattered once more by the scream and roar of trains, the jabber of passengers. Suburban trains, packed tight as sardine cans, disgorged happy commuters who had walked, hitchhiked, bicycled or driven cars to work each day.

Last night, leaders of the 67,000 member Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen called off their strike on the nationalized railroads and agreed to submit their demand for a wage hike to arbitration.

The strike was estimated to have cost the British Transport Commission, operators of the railways, $2,800,000 a day, and the striking union $840,000 in strike pay.

The walkout also forced many industrial plants to trim their working hours and to lay off 10,000 or more workers. But there was no serious industrial dislocation and no mass unemployment.

Two other strikes still bothered Britain.

A walkout of 20,000 dock workers has partially idled seven ports. A wildcat seamen's walkout, mainly by stewards and catering staffs demanding better living conditions and a shorter work week, has tied up the sailing of six liners.

Cohn Says Press Boycotts McCarthy

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Roy M. Cohn contends the nation's press is engaging in a "deliberate news blackout" on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

"In the past three months the eggheads of the press have practiced silence," Cohn declared Tuesday in a Flag Day speech.

The former counsel of the Senate Investigations subcommittee continued:

"You can go up and down the pages of the newspapers and you will find only a small paragraph now and then about McCarthy and the others who are fighting communism."

Cleveland Area Sets Milk Price

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland area of the federal milk marketing administration has set a uniform, minimum price of $3.68 per hundredweight for milk delivered to the Cleveland market in May.

This was a 24-cent increase over the April price, and compares with $3.24 paid in May of last year. The agency said the increase was due in part to a larger consumption of milk in liquid form.

Asphalt Buries, Kills Man, 84

CINCINNATI (AP)—Buried under seven and a half tons of hot asphalt, Fred Freideger, 84, of Wapakoneta died yesterday in General Hospital.

A truck loaded with the asphalt upset at the entrance of the Cincinnati Zoo, burying Freideger, who was sitting on a bench waiting for a taxi. Truck driver Joseph Clark, 48, cited for reckless driving, said the brakes failed.

ROKs To Get Jets

Genuine Guaranteed Annual Wage Said Major Danger To U. S. Economy

CHICAGO (AP)—An industrial leader today said "a real guarantee of annual wages" would boost prices and "weaken industry's ability to provide more and better jobs."

That opinion was expressed by Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana).

He was the first speaker at a day-long conference "On America's Economic Crisis—The Guaranteed Annual Wage." The meeting was so labeled by the sponsors, the National Assn. of Manufacturers and the Illinois Manufacturers Assn.

The one-day session brought together businessmen and industrialists to consider what they should do about labor's growing demand for guaranteed wage plans. Wilson, in his prepared leadoff speech, asserted:

"Anything approaching a real guarantee of annual wages, bringing with it rigid, fixed costs, heavy and uncertain future liabilities, increased labor costs and hence higher prices, would effectively weaken industry's ability to provide more and better jobs."

"A company saddled with such a guarantee would be discouraged from expanding or introducing new products, and jobs that might have been created thereby would never come into being."

Wilson said the agreements of the Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. to add to state unemployment payments to their employees were "too recent for any final appraisal."

But he noted that they did not meet the full original guaranteed annual wage demands of labor leaders.

He said the best assurance for worker security lies in the nation's increased economic growth and productivity. He added:

"We must not jeopardize our successful system by loading it with burdens which might crush it—but neither should we assume that any new burden would be intolerable."

Wilson also set forth:

"While some reasonable unemployment compensation is justified, it is unthinkable that a man should be paid as much, or nearly as much, for not working as he is for working."

Gen. Charles C. Haffner Jr., board chairman of R. R. Donnelley and Sons, huge Chicago printing concern, served as the general chairman of the management parity.

He advised the conferees, in calling them together, that they should "appraise the facts and seek a solution."

"We, as executives must squarely face this issue," he set forth in a pre-conference statement. "What is going on in Detroit is not just a problem for Ford and General Motors. It is a problem for all management."

"Businessmen and manufacturers must realize that now is the time to stand up and be counted on the side of bedrock American economic principles."

Auto Union Puts Pressure On Smaller Manufacturer

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers Union stood firm today on its demand that the independent automakers accept the guaranteed wage idea just as Ford and General Motors did.

The union opened preliminary talks on a new contract yesterday with American Motors Corp., which makes Nash and Hudson cars and appliances.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock, director of the union's American Motors department, said the union will ask the company for a full guarantee of 100 per cent of pay for 52 weeks.

The UAW, however, settled with Ford and GM for 60 to 65 per cent of take-home pay, including state jobless benefits, for up to 26 weeks. Woodcock's statement was considered a bargaining maneuver and it was apparent the union would be willing to settle with American Motors on the same basis as with the big corporations.

WOODCOCK REPLIED to a recent statement of George Romney, president of American Motors, that the smaller companies were entitled to special consideration from the union.

Woodcock declared employees of American Motors need a guaranteed wage "even more than the bigger firms, because of its ups and downs in employment."

The union's several contracts with the company have been extended to Aug. 12.

Mother Of 2 Admits Slaying Neighbor Tot

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—A mother of two children was charged with murder early today in the bathtub drowning death of Michael Baldwin, 3, a neighbor's child.

Police Chief John F. O'Connell Jr. said he booked Mrs. Gertrude F. Riordan, 44, after she admitted the slaying.

The fully clothed body of the youngster was found in Mrs. Riordan's bathtub yesterday while police were looking for him on a report from his mother that he disappeared from the front porch.

Mrs. Riordan, mother of two teen-agers, Eleanor, 17, and Joseph, 15, lived in the apartment above that of the victim's family.

Michael was the youngest of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baldwin.

O'Connell said Mrs. Riordan related that the child called on her and said he wanted to play cowboy with her. She said she obliged. Later, she said, they went into the bathroom where Mrs. Riordan drew 10 inches of water so the youngster could float clothespins as small boats.

Then, "for some unknown reason," Mrs. Riordan picked up the youngster, put him into the bathtub and held his head under water until he went limp.

Dead Man Given $51 Fine In Court

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A dead man was fined $51 and given a one-day suspended sentence in Little Rock traffic court for drunken driving.

Court officials didn't know that Doyle E. Gullick was killed Saturday in a car-train crash.

A professional bondsman who acted for Gullick said his case was called originally May 23. He was found guilty and allowed to go free with a certain amount of time to pay his fine. The $51 to pay the fine was turned over to the court yesterday, three days after Gullick died.

More Plants Open

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. reported today that five more of its plants had been put back into operation after walkouts. This cut 12,100 workers from the idle list, reducing the total to 50,300 at 17 plants.

Women's Poker Game Is Raided

HOUSTON (AP)—The vice squad raided a two-bit limit poker game and arrested eight housewives after an irate neighbor called in a complaint yesterday.

The women, who ranged in age from 45 to 68, were arrested while playing high-low split. They were released after posting $10 bonds.

Lt. Otto Vahldeik said a woman called in the first complaint at 9:30 a. m. He said she called back at 3:30 and said the poker players were "still at it and wanted to know what we were going to do. So we ran the call."

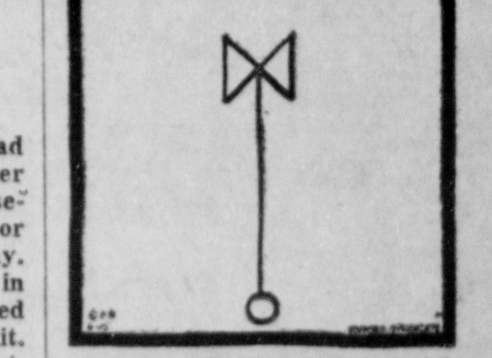

When the 68-year-old hostess was asked if she knew who tipped off the police, she said "I'm not sure, but I have an idea it was someone I forgot to invite."

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"BUTTERFLY WITH YO-YO" The other day when I was showing this Doodle around, my neighbor, Mr. Crossway, suggested I immortalize it by having it tattooed on my chest. I agreed and he took me to a place on the Waterfront which had a sign in front saying, "Jacques's Skin Salon—Tattooing Done While You Wait." He introduced Jacques to me as the "Rembrandt of the epidermis" and told me that 2 sailors Jacques had worked on were now hanging in the Metropolitan Museum of Art (basement gallery). Unfortunately, Jacques didn't have time to tattoo me. He had a lady customer who weighed 400 pounds and wouldn't leave her. Said it was the first opportunity he'd ever had to work in Cinemascope.

Elks' Flag Day Ceremonies Well Attended

Plans are already being formulated by the local Elks Lodge for a better display of American flags next Flag Day.

Following Tuesday's Flag Day ceremonies in front and inside of the Elks Home on N. Court St., suggestions were made for next year. It was reportedly felt that not enough homes and business establishments in the community had displayed the flag.

One idea apparently being seriously considered is to have a woman's organization make a door-to-door campaign next year prior to Flag Day.

The ceremonies Tuesday were reportedly the best attended here in some time. More than 100 persons were on hand to witness the special Flag Day ritual performed by the local Elks.

STARTING THE CEREMONIES. "The Gladiators," Circleville's American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, presented a half-hour concert in front of the Elks Home. Then, after the crowd had moved inside to the lodge rooms, the ritual was presented.

Cecil Roebuck, district commander of the American Legion, gave the keynote address. He developed a patriotic theme by pointing up the dangers to the American way of life which are taking place. He noted that too many Americans depend on the government financially.

The only change in the pre-published program was that Charles Will gave the response instead of Richard Bowers.

MAITRE D'--MASTER PSYCHOLOGIST

VERSAILLES' ROBERT, OTHERS WHO ARE JUST LIKE HIM, KNOW WHAT MAKES YOU, ME AND WHOSIS TICK

NEW YORK—An important part of life for many Manhattanites is the weekly hour with the psychiatrist or psychologist, when, for $50 a crack, the neurotic New York is told why he hates his wife or how he still is in love with his bicycle. The suspicion here is that he would do as well, if not better, by taking his troubles to Robert.

Robert, an urbane grandfather, is the maitre d' of the Versailles, one of the town's plush deadfalls, situated on the east side of midtown and protected by a stout velvet rope. Other practicing psychologists, with degrees in frames on the wall, may be competent. Robert is masterly. This trait, of course, is not unique with Robert. Others, such as the silver-haired Fred at the Persian room of the Plaza and the dapper Mino at the Drake room, are equally skilled in the art of understanding citizens and what makes them tick.

"Come, my children!" is a favorite saying of Robert's, for example, as he herds guests to a ringside table. Does he fire this whimsical salvo at young guests? He does not. "Kids would resent it," he says. "It would make them feel self-conscious and out of place. However, the older ones feel it makes them welcome; it puts them into a jovial spirit."

Twenty years at the old Beaux Arts, where he catered to such wildly assorted guests as Adm. Robert Peary, Rudolph Valentino and Maurice Maeterlinck, and 21 more at the Versailles (he's been that, Dad?) warrant, you'll get a choice table. However, even if you're piecing out the pennies carefully, Robert makes you feel extremely welcome—and he's mellow and wise enough so that he'll guide you into ordering moderately. Well, what the Versailles calls moderately, anyway.

The years have taught him, too, to tell at one brown-eyed glance whether the evening's companion is your wife or the girl with whom you shouldn't be at the Versailles. "This," he says in gracious understatement, "is most important." He goes along dutifully with the gag. "Ah, Mrs. Schlemmerheimer," he will say to the wife of a hot shot who actually pops in every other night with a new showgirl on his arm, "—why do you not bring your husband in more often?"

IF YOU'VE been fighting with sweetie and are trying to butter her up, or if you're trying to impress a prospective business customer, Robert falls in line, too. However, sometimes even his diplomatic character rebels. He must assert himself firmly. Such as the time a customer ordered a fine wine for a party of five—and then beefed about the taste of the devil's blood.

"When he told me that," Robert says with a shudder, "he was eating potato chips and peanuts. How could he? I knew the man wanted to impress his party, but I could not help myself. Naturally, I scolded him."

Back in the Beaux Arts days, Robert was virtually a wet-nurse to many college boys who ate and wineed there—and borrowed money from him. Now many of them are big bankers and industrialists around New York, and they frequently are his guests at the Versailles. "Only they do not borrow from me any more," he says, with what appears to be some relief.

The father of one and grandfather of three, Robert says that at home, it's his wife who is the maitre d' and he who is the guest. "She will not even let me prepare the salad dressing," he says with a benign smile. "How do you like that?" Obviously, whether you do or not, he does—at home.

He called the owners of the store. "I just can't believe it," England said. "I have been dreaming about this all my life."

The owners looked at the egg and saw the shadows of four yolks, the first four-yolk egg England had discovered in candling an estimated 28 million eggs in 26 years.

The four yolks were put in the freezer to be used as an exhibit.

The egg was unusually heavy but only slightly larger than normal.

Children have been most susceptible to polio from the ages of five through nine.

BLIND, DEAF PARENTS' LOVE ABLY SUBSTITUTES FOR SIGHT, HEARING

Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway proudly display their baby to a visiting nurse, a regular caller at their cottage home.

By HOWARD BABCOCK
Central Press Correspondent

STOW, O.—In a three-room cottage here a blind and deaf couple are desperately trying to prove that love, devotion and confidence are suitable substitutes for eyes and ears.

The subjects in this great test are Harold Hathaway and his wife, Georgia, better known as Sunny because of her happy disposition.

The Hathaways, both blind and deaf, were just another handicapped couple until a few months ago, when Sunny gave birth to a baby boy, who is healthy in every respect. At that time, the Hathaways' plight gained national recognition when the Summit county welfare department sought to place the child in the "custodial care" of the welfare board.

Petitions were circulated, protests poured in from all over the United States, and, finally, the Hathaways were told by a judge that they could keep their son, Clarence, with the aid of neighbors and a visiting nurse from the welfare department. After that court decision, the darkness which surrounds them was a little lighter and the stillness not quite so oppressive.

AS FAR as can be determined, the Hathaways are undertaking a task which is without precedent—trying to prove they can take as good care of their infant son as normal parents.

Thus far, they are doing a good job of it. They know their experiment must be successful if they are to keep the child, who is nearly two months old. They are confident of success. Welfare workers, however, are not quite as confident.

With a dispassionate view of the situation, they ask: what will happen to Clarence if an emergency arises? How will the Hathaways prevent him from swallowing a pin, or rolling off a bed as he grows older and becomes more active? What will happen when he begins to crawl, and walk? And how will his blind and deaf parents keep from stumbling over him?

A neighbor and visiting nurse assist the Hathaways a few hours each day in doing—without sight or hearing—what all parents do for their children.

"MY BABY is the only thing I ever had in my life which I can really call my own," Sunny explained as she painstakingly followed the nurse's instructions, given to her by tracing words on the palm of her hand.

Mrs. Hathaway, herself an orphan, was raised in an institution. Although she had only 10 per cent vision, which is decreasing, she was taught to care for herself completely and to do regular household chores.

Sunny apparently has learned the knack of baby care equally as well. She mixes the formula herself, warms the milk and tests it on her sensitive hands. The baby's daily bath is becoming "old stuff" to the determined mother.

An official of the welfare department said "she may overlook a few minor details, but in general he gets as good care as a majority of children."

The daily routine includes the usual 2 a. m. feeding. Mrs. Hathaway sleeps in a bed close by the bassinet, with one arm across the bassinet so she may detect the slightest movement of the baby.

Harold also rises for the early morning bottle and rocks his son back to sleep when he finishes his feeding.

A NEIGHBOR, Mrs. Virginia Pipes, makes a daily visit to the home, helping the Hathaways with odds and ends. She also opens the deluge of mail which has poured in from all parts of the nation, wishing the Hathaways well and offering gifts and donations, which have built a bank account of more than $750 so far for Clarence.

From Fort Riley, Kan., came several letters from soldiers stationed there, stating that they would offer their services if the courts try to take the child away again.

At first, Hathaway used a police whistle to summon a neighbor when he needed help, but that has now been replaced by a burglar alarm wired from the Hathaways' home to the Pipes' house.

Several other persons have offered milk for the baby, two have donated baby food for a year each, and a Cleveland woman said she would supply baby powder, pins and kindred items. A local diaper service has volunteered to handle washing problems.

The method of communication with the Hathaways is very unique.

Hathaway and his wife carried on their courtship in Braille and were married in Indiana slightly more than a year ago. They came to Ohio and settled in Stow.

The rapid development of the use of cotton fabrics in the 18th century curtailed the widespread use of linen in Europe.

World birth rates have declined from the peak prior to World War II, but still are above the 1939 level in most countries.

Auto Industry Labor Peace Brings Change

Sheet Metal Prices Hiked; Dealers See Good Summer Ahead

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor peace in the auto field is having its first price reaction today in the field of industrial materials.

Some grades of steel scrap have gone up in price because dealers see a good summer ahead for the steel mills, now that one of their big customers is virtually assured of setting a new record for car output this year.

Zinc producers say the same assurance has put the clincher on the price rise in that much wanted metal.

The price of rubber for future delivery has gone up—partly in response to the labor peace at Detroit, and partly because of the racial and labor disturbances at Singapore.

Tin prices have risen, too, with Singapore getting the immediate blame. But here, also, the belief that the business boom has been given a new lease on life is given some of the credit.

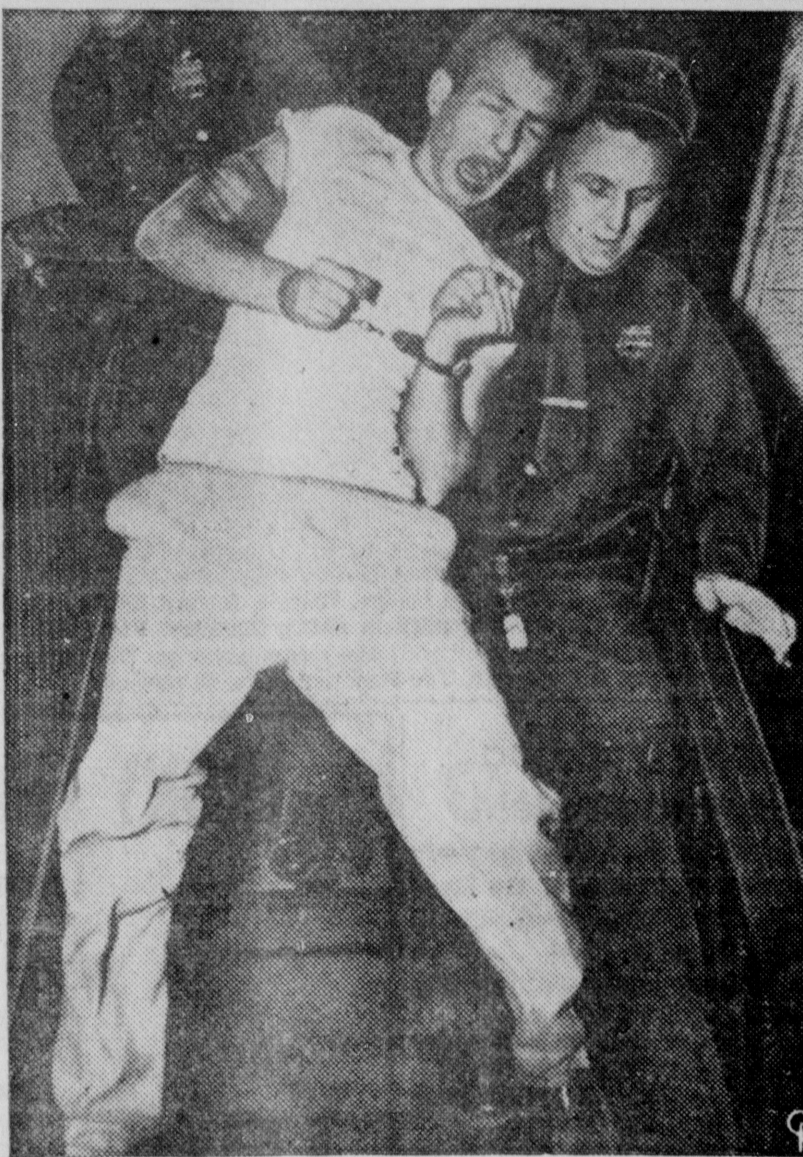

Prosperity prospects are holding the demand for aluminum high. So today some producers are predicting privately that the price of that metal will rise again this summer.

Copper producers once more are putting farther in the future the date when it could fall from its lofty price perch. Earlier this year copper men were saying the price might drop below 30 cents a pound this summer. Now they are saying the 36 cents price should hold this summer, even though fabricating mills close for their annual mass vacations. The producers explain that the mills are busy filling their supply pipelines, which they let empty when copper seemed shaky.

A basic steel price hike apparently is just waiting on a wage settlement with the steel workers union. Talks are under way, and July 1 is the deadline. A price rise in steel will effect thousands of factories.

For the consumer the reaction, if any, will be delayed. The consumer doesn't run down to the store for a pound of copper or a ton of steel. But months from now he will be buying autos or appliances that contain the higher priced steel and other metals.

The one immediately concerned is the purchasing agent for a manufacturing concern. He can see prospects today of the costs of his materials going up.

DESPITE HANDCUFFS, James Donovan, 17, continues to battle police as he is forced down the stairs at the Astoria, N. Y., station house to be booked by Patrolman Francis Smith and another officer. The police said Donovan, freed 12 days previously on a technicality after being charged with possessing a submachine gun, assaulted two policemen, a doctor and a news photographer before being subdued.

Amateur Beekeeper Stung To Death

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Walter C. Crenshaw, an amateur beekeeper most of his life, was stung to death Tuesday.

The 47-year-old service station operator was stung three or four dozen times and died in less than 10 minutes.

He and his brother-in-law Max Crenshaw, 26, were transferring a swarm from one hive to another when the insects attacked.

Denver Cat Owners Howl

DENVER (AP)—Cat owners had a right to howl today. The City Board of Health is proposing a tax of 1 cent per pound on pet food to help pay for enforcing the city's new leash law. That includes cat food. Yet the law applies only to dogs, which must be kept in yards or on leashes after July 1.

Prison Escape Try Is Failure

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Three long-term convicts at Southern Michigan Prison seized a stamping plant foreman as hostage Tuesday night and tried to escape through a sewer tunnel which had been used by 13 convicts who broke out last December. Since then bars had been installed across the exit. After four hours the convicts, Mike Gisondi, George Patskan and Edward Robinson, came out and meekly surrendered. The foreman, George Clark, was unharmed.

Recruiter Helps Orphan Enlistee

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Don Hartle, 17, an orphan, went to enlist in the Marines, but the aunt with whom he lives had never legally adopted him and couldn't sign the necessary consent papers. Recruiting Sgt. Carl Volz, 23, stepped up and had himself made Dan's legal guardian. "You gotta get 'em one way or the other," he commented.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employers, looking at the guaranteed wage plan granted by Ford and General Motors and faced with the possibility of union demands on them for some of the same, may ask themselves:

Would it be cheaper for me to agree to the same plan or try to take the steam out of union demands by trying to get the states to increase their unemployment insurance for laid-off workers?

President Eisenhower has complained states don't give laid-off workers enough unemployment pay. This year 26 states have boosted the amount.

The kind of guaranteed wage plan which Ford and GM just agreed to is a form of recognition that the states' unemployment benefits are too low.

Ford and GM emphasized the contracts they signed with the CIO United Auto Workers do not call for a guaranteed wage in the real sense but are a supplement to states' unemployment insurance.

All states have such insurance. But how much they pay, and for how long, varies. Some states will pay an idle worker for no more than 16 weeks. In some the limit is 26 weeks. And all states have minimums and maximums on how much they pay.

Alaska tops them all with a maximum of $45 a week for 26 weeks for a man with no dependents. Alabama pays the least: $22 for 20 weeks. Ten states give an unemployed worker an extra allowance for dependents.

Eisenhower urges all states to pay for 26 weeks. Ford and GM agreed to make their payments for a maximum of 26 weeks. Neither, the states nor auto makers have shown any intention of making payments for 52 weeks of idleness.

The unemployment insurance is paid for by employers through a tax on their payrolls. In most states, employees make no contributions. Ford and GM will add a maximum of $25—the minimum is $22—to what their laid-off workers get from states to bring an unemployed man's total compensation up to 60 to 65 per cent of his take-home pay when working.

Ford and GM will now be making two kinds of payments toward unemployment benefits: the tax to the states for unemployment insurance and the supplemental pay they give their laid-off workers.

This double payment would be true for any employer who gave a similar contract to a union. If an employer tried to make the supplemental pay seem less necessary by pressuring his state to pay higher unemployment insurance, he might eventually have to pay more into the insurance fund through increased tax.

MIRACLE OF LEON URIS

Called Worst Speller, Writes Best Seller

By LUCIA PERRIGO
Central Press Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO — In school, Leon Uris was "least likely to succeed." He flunked English three times. He left high school in his senior year to join the Marines.

A publisher claims he is the worst speller he ever encountered, racking up a record of misspelling "sergeant" 1,500 times. Yet—Uris is the author of the best-selling novel and now motion picture hit, Battle Cry!

Leon Uris doesn't laugh it all off, but he does considerable grinning about his great and sudden rise. Says he: "I have spent my whole life learning how to be an overnight success."

With a grin, Uris confesses that, "three dots usually take care of my punctuation!" When asked to address a conclave of teachers in California, on the subject of writing, Uris, instead of declining, merely sent them one of his old report cards.

IN SIX MONTHS he rocketed from driving a newspaper circulation truck to penning the script for the film version of his book, but he doesn't think it miraculous, simply the fruits of a fantastic capacity for hard work.

"A writer," insists this 31-year-old wonder, "needs, most of all, the perseverance to apply the seat of the pants to the seat of the chair!" This of course is in line with the conviction of Sinclair Lewis, who countered the question of an aspiring scribe as to the author's success formula with: "Why aren't you at home writing?"

His book, Uris explains, was written in the small hours of the night, in an attic workroom, after a day of truck driving. In fact, his three children couldn't sleep unless the typewriter keys were clacking. Weekends he'd write from 16 to 18 hours a day.

THE SON of a Baltimore paperhanger, Uris joined the Marines at 17. As a radio operator with the Second Battalion of the Sixth Marine Corps Regiment, he saw action in the bloody campaigns of Guadalcanal and Tarawa and determined to write his story of the Corps.

Malaria sent him back to the first inoculations to take care of from 80 to 90 per cent of the children in the two counties who last year helped test the vaccine's effectiveness.

He added there still is no word on when a new supply of vaccine

Leon Uris

States where Uris was assigned to Marine Headquarters in San Francisco. Here he met Marine Sgt. Betty Beck who became his wife.

AFTER his discharge from the Marines, Uris had big plans for founding a magazine, a veterans' newspaper and producing a play. In that order, they flopped. He then drove a newspaper truck in San Francisco, working at night in that attic in his small home in Larkspur, Marin county.

One of his lowest moments occurred, Uris admits, when his small daughter was stricken with polio and almost simultaneously one publisher returned his manuscript with the comment: "This is the worst tripe we have ever read."

Now with his book a best-seller, Uris is working on a second novel, writing in a converted garage in a Redwood grove a mile from his home.

Reflecting on his role as a success, Uris opines: "A writer needs a little talent, a few friends, an understanding wife and a creative drive that compels him to tell the story that is stored within his mind."

B52 REALISM

THE AIR FORCE has begun to implement its plan to step up B52 production by 35 per cent in the wake of insistent reports that the Russians have been gaining on the U. S. in the big bomber field.

Defense Secretary Wilson and General Twining, Air Force chief of staff, have appeared before a Senate appropriations subcommittee, to translate the accelerated program into dollars. They requested an additional $356 million, which there is little likelihood Congress will turn down.

Even so, the additional authorization, for the present, will be little more than a paper transaction. Though Congress goes on record backing Air Force accelerated production of the Boeing ship, it may not be asked to appropriate the funds for some time.

The intricate eight-jet inter-continental craft requires a lengthy period of incubation. Wichita-Boeing is already a year and a half along in tooling for second-source production, with no indication yet as to when the first model will come off the line.

The Air Force, perhaps, could change this somewhat by ordering an emergency cash program involving many more millions for duplication of plant. Secretary Wilson says the Air Force considered this but decided against it.

"We could go faster in this production if we wanted to," he concedes, "but we have to have some consideration for the people involved."

CROCKETT CRAZE

MILLIONS OF parents have bought their youngsters coonskin caps and other Davy Crockett items of apparel, etc., and the Crockett boom is gaining momentum daily.

The promotion, which includes everything from bath towels to bed sheets, is described as the greatest in the history of American merchandising. It has already surpassed both the Hopalong Cassidy and Mickey Mouse promotions and has cost American parents more than $300 million, according to one merchandising authority.

The amazing chain reaction was set off by Walt Disney's series about the "King of the Wild Frontier." A catchy tune kept the story alive for weeks, and soon every youngster had to have at least a cap to be in style. There is the inevitable litigation in courts over royalties, trademarks and other contentions.

Here is a striking example of the influence youngsters exert over family spending. No matter how loosely the budget had been fashioned, it certainly did not anticipate the need for extra dollars for such buying. There are 30 million youngsters in America between the ages of 5 and 14 years. Viewers-with-alarm say these are being educated to become spenders from infancy.

But perhaps the biggest reason for the Davy Crockett boom is the current prosperity. If people didn't have the ready cash, there wouldn't be so many coonskin caps in evidence.

Military experts say the U. S. is ahead in guided missiles. Naturally, having had experience with automobiles for half a century.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

We were chewing the rag over a chicken hamburger, the other great mind being as receptive of an argument, pro or con, as I am. The chicken hamburger is a special dish of Walter Winchell's at the Stork Club, upon which I have improved by making two out of one which crisps up more of the surface.

This addition to the art of gastronomy is no reflection on Winchell's taste, each man having his own, like a girl I know who wastes a good steak by having it reduced to the texture of leather before she can enjoy it.

However, this is not where we started at all. The subject is the argument and the other disputant was the delightful Bennett Cerf whose conscience must prick him over his success as a business man, so he has, in his prime—we went to college together—become a columnist and tells jokes ancient and novel for the delectation of the elite. He said:

"What I object to in you is that no matter where you start, you come out in the same place."

Modestly, I felt that that could have been said about Aristotle, Spinoza, Herbert Spencer, John Stuart Mill, Karl Marx or Joe Blow who having attained some years of experience and maturity, reached a conclusion, right or wrong, as to what is correct and used that conclusion as a yardstick to measure whatever came before them. Thomas Aquinas, who has guided me into many paths, wrote a library of learned volumes to provide just such a guide for human thought and conduct. In many respects, most mothers use such yardsticks of conduct when they instruct their progeny.

This raises the question perhaps of what makes our age so confusing. The Marxists have a positive position which is established by a canon which they pursue orthodoxly. They know what they are doing even if the rest of us hold that what they are doing is immoral.

They progress rapidly because they function within the margins of guiding ideas. The Roman Catholics, even more so, in matters of faith and morals insist upon the application of their canon of moral criteria to conduct. Again the position is positive; there can be few uncertainties although there will be more differences of approach than among the Marxists who are more rigid because they are fighting politically and imperially and refuse to tolerate dissension which they call, deviation.

Most other groups in our current society take a colorless, middle-of-the-road position, pragmatic, opportunistic, hoping that the best will work out and avoiding to stipulate their own conceptions as to what is best. Their goals are blurred because they fear to focus on goals. Worst of all, so large a part of mankind in the Western world fears personal unpopularity, personal unfashionableness, that it avoids focussing on goals, lest they be not the wrong ones but the unfashionable ones.

Thus while Communism is unpopular in the United States, so is anti-Communism. The theory is that it is not necessary to fight Communism but only to abhor it. The difficulty with that view is that it comes out to the advantage of the Communist because he fights with fanatical fervor. He fights to a goal and even uses those who abhor him as means to an end.

DIET AND HEALTH

Nephritis May Start With a Mild Attack

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE first attack of nephritis might be so mild that you won't even notice it.

The kidney damage might not be discovered until years later. Since nephritis usually follows another infection such as a streptococcus infection of your throat, tonsils or sinuses, the symptoms of the primary ailment may overshadow those of the nephritis.

May Start Slowly

The beginning of acute nephritis may be sudden or insidious. The course may also be slow or fast. Usually, one of the first symptoms you will notice will be a puffiness of your eyelids upon arising in the morning. Within a few days your feet and legs may begin to swell.

If the onset has been insidious, you might not be aware that you have acute nephritis until your ankles begin swelling, probably after a walk. Swollen ankles, of course, do not necessarily mean that you have nephritis.

Your urine might be bloody, or the color of wine or smoke. At the beginning, the volume of your urine will be greatly diminished. Perhaps it will amount to only a few ounces in a 24-hour period.

In children, the most common symptoms are vomiting, high temperatures, abdominal pains and occasionally headaches and convulsions.

Common sense might help you head off an attack of nephritis. If you have a sore throat, painful neck glands, sinus infections or attacks of tonsillitis, have them treated by your physician immediately. With penicillin or sulfa drugs, he probably will be able to kill the streptococcus germs, which in many cases lead to nephritis.

Avoid Drafts

Be very careful while you are recovering from a cold, sore throat or other infection. Take especially good care of yourself for several weeks. Don't become overly tired or chilled. And don't get wet feet. However, if you do become chilled, get into dry clothes at once and warm yourself in a well-heated room. Make sure there are no drafts.

I think you'll find that a good hot drink will help, too. Then get into bed. If you want, you can use a heating pad or a hot water bottle for additional warmth. These measures will help ward off pneumonia. And pneumonia might be followed by nephritis.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

L. B.: To satisfy a constant craving for sweets, I consume at least a pound of candy daily with no weight gain. Is this harmful?

Answer: It is harmful to consume the amount of sweets daily that you mention. This craving for sweets might be due to diabetes or to low blood sugar coming from some other cause. You are in need of a careful study by your physician to determine whether any abnormal condition is present, so that proper treatment may be carried out.

THE BOSS OF BROKEN SPUR

By Nick Summer

SYNOPSIS

Rob Mallory had hoped his foster-son, Kerry Riordan, would settle down now, wed their neighboring rancher, Christie Toland, take over the management of Broken Spur, which Mallory had built into a Texas cattle empire. But there was a wild streak in the boy which drove him off on drinking sprees into the arms of the earthy Lita Dawson. It was because of Lita that Christie had broken with Kerry and had turned her attention to Wayne Cameron, an icy-eyed stranger. Trouble in the area had long threatened, for farmers had begun to nest on the land. Clashes as to rights and boundaries arose, and ranch war seemed inevitable. At a local dance, physical violence flared sharply when Tim Larrabee, a farmer, and Kerry Riordan, a rancher, fought for the favor of beautiful earthy Lita. And when Mallory learned of this latest "mess" involving his boy with Lita, he whipped the lad soundly, warning his wife, driving him from Broken Spur in quest of adventure.

CHAPTER TEN

WITH the spring drive a few days off, the Broken Spur crew was spread out over the range, looking for strays. Rob Mallory and Sandy Weaver had taken the part of the spread that lay nearest the nester settlement. For hours now they had been riding with scarcely a word between them. Sandy knew a better than to attempt conversation when Rob wasn't in the mood for it, but he watched him out of the corner of his eyes when he could, with trouble on his shrewd, seamed face.

Twenty years devoted to their service had given the old man a fierce loyalty to his outfit and his boss. The latter might not admit him to anything like intimacy, but nevertheless, Rob's troubles were his troubles. And the inscrutable mask he faced the world with couldn't hide from Sandy's eyes that Rob was in trouble now.

Lately, he'd hardly been out of the saddle between daylight and dark. He'd always taken his share of the work at busy times like round-up—that was one of the reasons his seasoned, hard-bitten crew respected him—but never, since the early days when he'd worked Broken Spur with a three-man crew, had he driven himself as hard as these last few weeks. And never had he shut himself so grimly away from everyone around him, nor been so quick to flash out in anger at the most trifling provocation. Used as the crew were to their boss's unpredictable temper, Sandy had needed all his diplomacy to keep them pacified.

He himself hadn't escaped the whiplash of Rob's tongue, but he took it philosophically, sure for once that he knew what lay behind it. Rob hadn't mentioned Kerry since the night the boy had saddled up and ridden away. No one ever knew the reason for his leaving, though there had been plenty of guess-work in the bunkhouse, but Sandy, stealing his covert glances at the arrogant, handsome hawk face and veiled black eyes, knew that Rob's private devil was riding him hard.

His musings were broken in on by the sight of a rider coming toward them at an easy lope—a rider who sat slim and straight in the saddle, had pushed back and silver-blond hair whipping in the light breeze.

"Hello, Rob! Hi, Sandy!" She reined in beside them. "Thought I'd stop by and see how you were shaping up for the drive. Ours started yesterday."

For just a few seconds her eyes sought Sandy's—just long enough for a shake of the grizzled head that meant, "No news," before she turned away and went on with her talk about the drive, the easy flow of her voice covering up Rob's moody silence. She had pride, this handsome filly! Catch her letting on that Kerry's going off without a goodbye meant anything in her young life.

"Have you been having nester trouble, Rob?"

Rob shook his head curtly. "Not yet."

"You're expecting it?"

"You can always expect it. We're overdue for it, I guess."

"Why can't people let each other alone?" the girl demanded. "The country's big enough for cattlemen and farmers, isn't it?"

"We're lettin' them alone," Sandy protested. "If they'd just— He broke off short. "What's that?"

The other two looked where he pointed. From his tone, he might have seen a snake. But a snake would have been less unexpected, and considerably less of an outrage to his feelings, than what lay plain and unbelievable before his eyes—a barbed-wire fence stretched across what was unquestionably Broken Spur range.

Without speaking, Rob spurred his horse over to the offending object, Sandy and Christie close behind him. Two men in blue overalls dropped what they had been doing somewhere behind the fence, and strode over to the barrier as the three riders approached. Joe Larrabee's steel-blue eyes, without a flicker of humor in them now, and his son's smouldering black ones, faced the boss of Broken Spur with an unflinching challenge.

"You put that fence up, Larrabee?"

"I did."

"Get it down." Rob's voice laid down a flat command.

Tim flung the answer back at him. "We're not takin' our orders from you, Mallory."

"You're on my land—"

"The hell we are!"

Rob's steel-bright glance raked the younger man, then turned to the father. "Has this boy of yours gone off his head, Larrabee?"

"No, Mr. Mallory." For all his unshaven cheeks and patched, sweat-stained denim, the nester wasn't without dignity. "When we heard you were claiming our farms were on your property, some of us got a lawyer to find out just where we stood. He found out some real interesting things, Mr. Mallory. Your title's no good. The old Mex-that sold it to you didn't have it to sell. The rightful owners of this land die' out years ago, and it's gone back to free range. And I'm fling on this piece of it."

In his "The Ghost Towns of California," a boon to Americana collectors, Remi Nadeau tells of one moldering desert camp where the octogenarian postmaster maintained stoutly that the ghost of Pegleg Gertie, one of the painted ladies of yesterday, still paraded the streets when the moon was full. Seeking corroboration, Nadeau collared a whiskered old desert rat, and asked, "Have you, too, seen the ghost of Pegleg Gertie?"

"Reckon I never seed the ghost," boasted the desert rat, "but dang bust it, I seed everything else!"

Mama Sells Her 'Old Barn'

By HAL BOYLE

KANSAS CITY (P)—Mama has sold "that old barn" at last.

"That old barn" is what she calls the big old-fashioned 10-room white house in which she has lived for more than 34 years. During that time, Mama raised five children and saw most of them fly away, one by one.

But always they have come back to the old white house. It has remained the family center. Mama's feud with the house began the day she moved in. She threatened to move right out and she's been threatening to do so every year since.

"Who wants to rattle around in an old barn like this?" she has said a thousand times. "It's just too much trouble to keep up."

"I'll sell it and move into a one-room apartment with a hot-plate and be perfectly happy."

At other times Mama has decided to turn the house into a duplex and rent out the second floor. But she never quite got around to it.

She has never liked the idea of having strangers around since years back during hard times, she briefly rented two rooms to a couple Dad knew. Dad did know some odd people. In this case the husband, a robust fellow in a 10-gallon hat, turned out to be a snake oil salesman, and Mama learned to her horror he was keeping jars of embalmed rattlesnakes in his quarters. The couple moved out very soon after that.

In recent years my sister, Dolores, her husband, Don Newton, and their two children have shared the old home with Mama. But this spring they bought a newer house and asked Mama to come with them.

So, after all her long years of quarreling with "that old barn," she had to make up her mind whether to stay on in it, rent it, or dispose of it. Mama decided to make a clean break with the past. She put the old house on the market. She was startled—perhaps a little dismayed—at the speed with which it was sold. A young veteran bought it.

When we left, and she turned the key in the lock, it made a lonely sound. We got in the car and drove away, and Mama never looked back.

"I don't see any reason to feel sentimental about that old barn," she said firmly. "I'm glad to leave it at last."

Perhaps she really is. But nobody in the family really believes it. You can't feud with something for 34 years and not fall in love with it.

Texas Wedding Rites Unite Miss McManus, Lt. Ballard

Parents Of Groom Reside In Tarlton

A wedding of interest to the residents of the Circleville community was held in San Angelo, Tex., uniting Miss Marilyn Ann McManus and Lt. David Dwinell Ballard.

Miss McManus is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clinton McManus of Concho Ave., San Angelo, Lt. Ballard is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard James Ballard of Tarlton.

The candlelight rites were read by Dr. B. O. Wood in the First Presbyterian church of San Angelo. The altar was decorated with baskets of yellow gladioli and white stock, against a background of greenery and lighted tapers in seven-branch candelabra.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Edward C. Miller as matron of honor, and Miss Patricia Powers and Miss Judy Johnson as bridesmaids. Two cousins of the bride served as junior bridesmaids.

The attendants were gowned in matching dresses of waltz-length yellow net over taffeta. They wore tiny half-hats of yellow and carried nosegay bouquets of yellow and white glamelias and gladioli petals.

Lyn E. Ballard of New York City was best man for his brother. Groomsmen were William C. McManus Jr. and Lt. James R. Griffen of Columbus. Seating the guests were Lemuel Miller and Lt. Paul Knox.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. Scrolls of lace edged in ruchings of tulle were appliqued to the bouffant skirt of tulle layers overlaid with lace.

Her waist-length veil of French illusion was caught to a lace bandeau. She carried a cascade bouquet of white glamelias and stephanotis.

A reception in the St. Angelus Hotel followed the ceremony. The bride's table was decorated in yellow nosegays and featured a four-tier wedding cake. The newly-married couple is spending a two-week wedding trip in New Orleans, La. The bride travelled in a suit or red and green and caramel. She wore a corsage of white glamelias.

The new Mrs. Ballard is a graduate of San Angelo High School and San Angelo College. Lt. Ballard attended the University of Cincinnati. He is a pilot instructor at Goodfellow Air Force Base, Texas.

Lawn Fete Is Set By Ladies Of St. Philip's

Mrs. Helen Gunning was hostess to the ladies of St. Philip's Episcopal church society Tuesday evening in her home on E. Main St.

Plans were made for an annual lawn fete, to be held July 26 on the church grounds. The group voted to serve the same menu during the event which they had used in previous years.

Committee heads for the event were appointed as follows:

Mrs. Arthur Johnson, tickets; Mrs. Robert Smith, serving; Mrs. Howard Moore, soliciting of food,

Memorial Service Highlights Meet Of EUB Society

The quarterly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of First Evangelical United Brethren church was highlighted by a memorial service for deceased members.

The new society president, Mrs. O. F. Gibbs, conducted the meeting, which was held in the service center of the church. Mrs. Ralph Long presented the devotional thoughts, "Vessels Chosen of God", taken from Scripture according to the book of Romans.

During a short business session, Mrs. C. O. Kerns announced plans for a rummage sale to be sponsored by the Ruth Circle at the Jim Ford store.

Mrs. Alvie Harrison and Mrs. Nannie Beery, two members of the group who passed away during the past year, were honored with a memorial service.

Mrs. Edwin Richardson honored the late Mrs. Harrison with two poems, "I Shall See Him Someday" and "Who Walk with God". Scripture reading was taken from John 12. Mrs. Charles Ater and Mrs. Frank Hawks offered a vocal duet, "Beyond the Sunset".

In memory of Mrs. Beery, Miss Gladys Noggle read a poem written by Mrs. Beery, "My Beautiful Chair". The service closed with prayer, led by Mrs. Roy Groce.

Program for the session included a film dealing with medicine, shown by the Rev. O. F. Gibbs. Refreshments were served by the executive committee, with Mrs. Gibbs as chairman.

Krimmel-Goodin Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krimmel of 368 E. Franklin St. are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Ann, to David James Goodin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Goodin of Grove City.

Miss Krimmel is a graduate of Circleville High School and Capital University. She is employed at the Continental Casualty Company of Columbus.

Mr. Goodin is a graduate of Central High School and attends Ohio State University.

The wedding is to be an event of early fall.

Election, Movies Highlight Meeting Of Newcomers Club

Election of officers and movies on civil defense filled the program at a meeting of Newcomers' Club held in the Court and Main Restaurant.

Mrs. Thomas Drenan has been named president for the coming year. Mrs. Robert Currie will serve as vice-president; Mrs. H. G. Vandemark, treasurer, and Mrs. S. Robinson Foster, secretary and publicity chairman.

The nominating committee consisted of the present club officers who are: Mrs. Walter Yamarick, Mrs. Henry Swope, Mrs. John Griffith and Mrs. Melvin Swyers. Roger McLaughlin, air raid warden, showed four films on civil defense including, "Disaster on Main Street", "Survival Under Atomic Attack", "Our Cities Must Fight" and "This is Civil Defense".

These films showed uncensored pictures of the aftermath of bombing raids of World War II and stressed that civilians would be a Number One target in any modern war. They also provided information on how to prepare your home and family for the possibility of disaster and how to help organize your community for survival under enemy attack or other emergency.

Mrs. Yamarick conducted a short business meeting, and Mrs. Donald McGregor gave a report on plans for a juke box dance to be held for newcomers June 24 at the Country Club.

Members and guests present were: Mrs. Yamarick, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. David Cherrington, Mrs. Richard Robbins, Mrs. William Speakman, Mrs. G. T. Costis, Mrs. Doyle Painter, Mrs. R. Reinhard, Mrs. McGregor and Mrs. Drenan.

Mrs. William Sibbick, Mrs. William Hagenback, Mrs. Thomas Matesky, Mrs. Richard Jones, Mrs. Ed Curlee, Mrs. Charles Moore, Mrs. Vandemark, Mrs. Howard Snook, Mrs. R. S. Swenson, Mrs. Earl Palm, Mrs. Walter Fisher, Mrs. Joe Bartz, Mrs. Richard Moore and Mr. McLaughlin.

Donald P. Smith, Mrs. Will expects to remain six weeks and Charles Will for three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spangler and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson attended the wedding of their brother, Johnny Johnson, and Carol Singer, held in the Lutheran church of Columbus. They also were present at a reception which followed the ceremony and was held in the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Singer.

The Pythian Sisters will hold their final meeting of the Summer months at 8 p. m. Thursday in the Knights of Pythias Lodge rooms. A covered dish supper will follow the session.

Mrs. Frank Geib and children, Nancy and Mike, of Fremont were houseguests of Mrs. Geib's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison during the past week. The Morrisons, formerly of Circleville, now reside in Ashville.

Cronenwetts Are Hosts To Recital Of Music Pupils

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cronenwett presented a group of their pupils in an afternoon recital held in First Methodist church. The program for the event was as follows:

Opening number, by a string trio composed of David Stuck, Carolyn Newton, and Connie Mershon, playing a waltz, "Summer Night", "Chinese Chatter", a piano solo by Drexel Poling; a trumpet solo, "Concertone" by Linda Leist; two piano numbers by Kathy Schaub, "The Merry Clown" and "The Fairies' Harp"; "Blue Bird Waltz" on the clarinet by Richard Warner, and a piano duet "The Pony Ride", by Drexel Poling and Mrs. Cronenwett.

Two piano numbers, "The Chimes" and "To A Skyscraper", by Peggy Gifford; a violin solo, "Merry Widow Waltz", by Connie Mershon; "Dangerous Journey" on the piano by Skipper Hanson; a violin number, "Andantino" by Edith Jones, and "Julia Laurine Waltz" by Norman Wilson on the trumpet, accompanied by Nancy Wilson.

How Goes South Viet Nam?

U. S. Puts Indochina Hopes On Bachelor Teetotaler, 54

Editor's Note—Preston Grover, chief of the AP bureau in Paris, has flown to Saigon to make an on-the-spot check of the trouble-plagued South Viet Nam and the prospects for U.S. and French hopes in the region. This is the third in a series of five articles.

By Preston Grover
SAIGON (AP)—The United States believes it has found the man to save Indochina from the Communists. He is Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic past 54 who looks like 40, drinks no alcohol, chain-smokes cigarettes, and has never married.

He has chosen a program of "Indochina for the Indochinese and the French must go."

For at least part of this program he has solid State Department support. Washington is determined to back him in setting up his own government and in carrying out the domestic program he has outlined—a program which is both challenging and, to the French, shocking. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, once fully a supporter of Diem, evidently changed his attitude somewhat, and favored greater consideration of the French position.

The Diem program and his methods have turned the French colony into a community of howling derelicts, for they insist Diem and his policies are exactly the best means of bringing the southern half of Viet Nam into the hands of the Communists. The Communists already control North Viet Nam, with Hanoi as its capital and Haiphong as its seaport. Championing nationalism, they took it away from the French in a hard rice-paddy war and a tough debate in Geneva.

Diem proceeds with his program, doubtless hampered by the dispute between the two big powers. He is reinforcing his position almost daily. One American source says it is quite possible Diem has established himself so solidly that neither the French nor Americans could remove him except by a great show of force—even if they chose. Neither side seems eager to do that, certainly not the Americans. The French are not likely to fly in the face of the Americans.

The most determined American backer of Premier Diem here is Col. Edward Lansdale, chief of psychological warfare, a dark haired athletic type around 40 who finds Diem's policies about 100 per cent right. No wonder, says the French, who insist that he is responsible for some of those policies.

The French hate him with a venom they reserve usually for Germans. Lansdale is aware of it and is not disturbed.

Psychological warfare is a broad term in these parts and Lansdale has intelligence agents planted

Ohio Group Urges Bigger Tax Division

COLUMBUS (AP)—The House Taxation Committee Tuesday recommended passage of a bill to increase appropriations to local governments from 20 to 24 million dollars a year.

The vote was 18-1. Knocked from the bill was a proposed formula backed by the Ohio Municipal League for distribution of funds, leaving allocations to the discretion of county budget commissions.

Solon Waylaid By Holdup Trio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Don Hayworth (D-Mich) was waylaid last night by three masked hold-up men in a park bordering the Capitol. Police said the bandits got nothing since Hayworth was carrying no money.

Hayworth, 57, told police the armed leader of the gang ordered him, "Get down on the grass or I'll blow your brains out." Hayworth complied.

Although most lizards lay eggs, some have developed viviparity.

all over Indochina. He does an incredible amount of getting about himself, and in a short conversation will describe meetings with Vietnamese in a half dozen places around this southern remnant of the French empire.

Lansdale has an uncanny facility for ferreting out instances of French finagle aimed at upsetting the government of Premier Diem. In theory he works closely with the French. In practice their relations have become so bad that a onetime gay partnership has turned into a cold and distant exchange of necessary formalities.

As Lansdale sees it, the French are asleep to the fact that the Vietnamese do not want them here any more except maybe as businessmen without special privileges, and certainly not as dominant factors in the government.

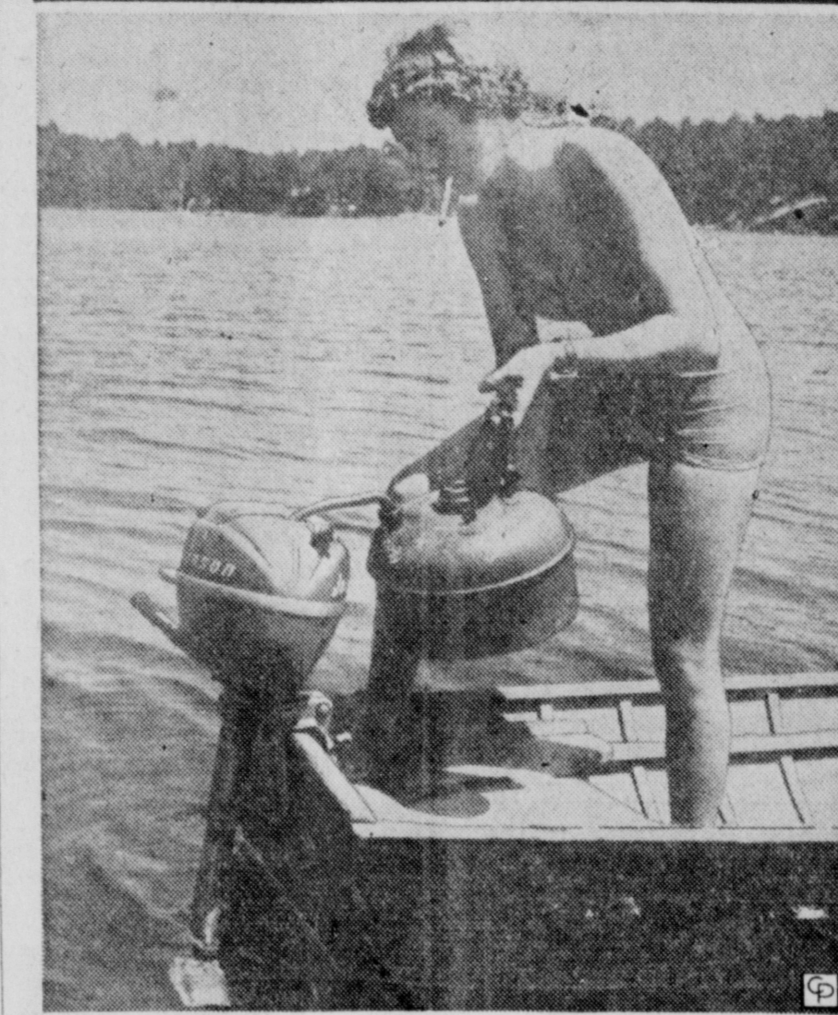

Lansdale believes that cooperation here with the French is impossible, that they will keep turning and twisting to keep a foothold in the government so long as they are here.

Gen. Paul Ely, the French commander, insists Diem does not know how to govern. He says Diem is building up a dictatorship. The Americans agree this latter may be true, but find no ready substitute for it elsewhere. For a time Diem had a government in which the various disputing sects and regional leaders were incorporated. They started intriguing to bring Diem's downfall. He promptly set out to crowd them out. It took six months to do it.

Who is the right trail is hard to say. Just how far the State Department agrees with Diem has never been established. But Col. Lansdale is the most vigorous supporter of his program.

The United States has sent in a new ambassador, a top quality State Department man, Frederick Reinhardt, generally considered near the level of Ambassador Charles Bohlen in Moscow. He may be the answer.

Janitor's Error Brings Firemen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Express elevators shot firemen to the roof of the 17-story Federal Building after several persons saw smoke billowing from the top Tuesday.

The firemen came right down again, however, and proceeded to the basement. There they found a maintenance man mistakenly had tossed into the incinerator a quantity of heavily varnished wood scraps.

Pretty much the same thing happened there a few weeks ago. That time a janitor had heaved some cartons of old rubber bands into the furnace.

Sokolsky's These Days

Therefore, those who see the peril ahead have a guidepost for thought and conduct. And this point can be made that while personal fashionableness may bring one personal success, the disappointments come when the fashions change.

In this connection, I should like to recommend a book written by one who often spoken unkindly of such conservatives as myself and who himself was once a Communist but now, even in young years, is only a cynic. The author of this book is Murray Kempton and his opus is entitled, "Part of Our Time: Some Monuments and Ruins of the Thirties." He speaks of certain fashionable tendencies in the 30's which are causing considerable grief in the 50's to those who know not where they belong.

No Danger Seen In Atomic Wastes

COLUMBUS (AP)—An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman says disposal of radioactive waste by industrial users of atomic isotopes does not constitute a serious problem.

L. R. Rogers of the AEC's Advisory Field Service said large radioisotope users have available trained health physicists "on whom we can depend to help assure that safe waste disposal practices are followed." He made his remarks at a physics conference at Ohio State University.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

Law and order, safety and sanitation, all made up a big problem in the early days of Circleville.

Many of the early ordinances and editorials of the newspapers reveal what our law-makers and enforcement officers had to contend with. Though we had no traffic lights, one way streets or stop signs in those days, Circleville did have many laws intended as safety measures. Could be that some of these are still in effect—so watch your step!

"IT SHALL BE UNLAWFUL:
"To go swimming in the city, between the hours of six in the morning and eight in the evening, without bathing suits. To fly a kite, play ball or the game called 'shinney' in any street or alley. For any person, over age of 14, to engage in common labor on Sunday except by necessity or for charity.

"To fill any sprinkling wagon or other water supply wagon from the fire hydrants. For any locomotive engine to run within the corporate limits at a greater speed than 4 miles per hour. To permit animals of the dog kind to bark, howl or yelp, so as to disturb neighbors. To propel at any time on streets or alleys, any automobile not equipped with an alarm gong or a horn, to be sounded or blown on approaching all street crossings, and said automobile never to be driven at a speed greater than, 8 miles per hour.

"In meeting a horse-drawn vehicle, if animal appears frightened, operator of the automobile must stop the engine, get out, and lead the horse past and beyond, at a safe distance, the automobile. A bicycle policeman, provided with a speedometer on the bike, shall police the streets, but has no authority to arrest an automobilist for speeding unless, when following him, the speedometer shows that the speed limit was being surpassed.

"It shall be unlawful for any person to intentionally get in front of a moving bicycle to vex, annoy or interfere with the rider, or to throw rocks, sticks or other missiles at the rider or his wheel. For children, under age of 15, to be on the streets after 8:30 P. M., April to October, and after 7:30 P. M. between October and April, unless accompanied by an adult person of good moral character."

Then there were features concerning sanitary conditions, which made headlines—for instance:

According to one writer of our early history, Circleville had a bad reputation for its "unaccountable toleration of the pig nuisance."

"We fear that familiarity with objects contemptible sometimes breeds, if not respect, at least indifference. Hogs of all ages, sizes and colors, grunting and nosing about the streets and sidewalks, in front of business houses and private mansions, are not slightly and agreeable objects and is not a fair sample of the outgrowth of modern civilization.

"By an architectural peculiarity many, even of the more elegant houses, are built close to the street, without yard or fence or the possibility of any. As many of these houses are not provided with halls, the parlors open directly upon the sidewalks and here, during the summer season, the families and their guests are accustomed to bring out their chairs in the cool of the day, to enjoy a social chat and the evening breeze.

"But this of course is almost a literal extension of the parlor into the street and since, by common consent, the street is the pigs' habitat, where, sauntering along in their lazy dignity, they might at any time make themselves part and parcel of some group of bipedal intruders—we see that 'the pig in the parlor' ceases to be a figure of speech and becomes a possibility, if not an actual fact."

Even as today—law and order had such problems as this to put up with. In our town was a village toper, and though he had an undeniable charm—for he was well-educated, had a remarkable memory and could quote from the Bible by the hour—yet he was a problem to the community. Many ways were tried to wean him away from the bottle, but none proved effective for more than a day or two.

In desperation, a plan was cooked up to give him a scare the next time he was picked up. The idea was to give him a sniff of the brimstone to come. A cell in the clink was rigged-up, replete with clanging chains, a shrouded skeleton manipulated by wires by the

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: A few years ago I found I was going to have a child, which I wanted more than anything. However, the man—a wonderful person, successful, with many friends—was married to someone else.

He offered to obtain his freedom and marry me, but I didn't accept, although I loved him very much. I didn't see how we could manage without disgrace and problems, and distress to many, and it might have ruined him in business. I didn't want to hurt him in any way, so I added another sin to the list. I didn't have the baby.

Constantly since then this has been on my mind, with untold remorse and regret. I've read books which should be helpful—and weren't. I consulted a psychiatrist, who neither condemned nor condoned. He felt I didn't need analysis and wasn't helpful at all. I talked with my doctor, who expressed sincere regret and said I probably would make a wonderful wife and mother, but he was no help either.

Shrinks From Suicide

To make matters worse, I ended the affair with the man whom I loved so much, and about a year later his marriage blew up and he suddenly married a woman he had met shortly before. I have feared for my sanity and often considered suicide, but that would be another sin, and because of my fine family I can't go through with it. When younger, I was quite religious, but can't seem to find comfort in religion now. I can't bring myself to confess my sin and distress to a minister. I am too ashamed.

I often wish I had taken the first course offered me. With all the unhappy ramifications it would have brought, it couldn't have caused me more suffering than I am (and have been) enduring. Is there any way I can cleanse my soul and find peace of mind? Any help or comfort you can give will be greatly appreciated. I have learned this—sooner or later, we all pay for our sins.

A. Z.

DEAR A. Z.: Well, obviously,

the only way to cleanse your soul and get peace of mind is to confess your sins to a man of God and accept his help in renewing your hold on the life of God. You need the help of the Christian sacraments, of confession, absolution and Holy Eucharist, and the help of intercessory prayer offered by others on your behalf—all of which can be obtained only by going to a churchman and asking for it.

I am struck by your statement that you can't bring yourself to confess your sins and distress to a minister, because you are too ashamed, you say. This is a morbid attitude, quite in line with the devil's purposes—and it amounts to rejecting Christ's teaching about man's relationship to God, and God's love of mankind, and the divine provisions made, at divine expense, for remitting grievous sins.

The forces of evil in life, personified by the legendary figure we call the devil, have led, and still are leading you, step-by-step into "outer darkness"—where there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, and all manner of suffering. Now the devil's latest argument for holding you there is that you are "too ashamed" to expose your sinfulness to healing agents.

Antidote Offered

As an antidote to moral discouragement, and to refresh your mind on the Christian teaching, read "Christian Behavior" (Macmillan), a lovely book by the brilliant Clive Staples Lewis, noted author of "The Screwtape Letters"—that incomparably witty expose of the devil's campaigning methods.

On pages 68-69 in "Christian Behavior," Lewis writes: "Christians have often disputed as to whether what leads the Christian home is good actions, or faith in Christ. I am (and have been) enduring. Is there any way I can cleanse my soul and find peace of mind? Any help or comfort you can give will be greatly appreciated. I have learned this—sooner or later, we all pay for our sins."

WILD WEST'S WILD MEN

New York Librarian Expert on Careers Of Most Notorious Old-Time Gunmen

By JERRY KLEIN
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK—In the concrete canyons of Manhattan a man with the appropriate name, Vigilante, rides indoor herd on the bad men of the old, wild west. Although he has spent his life riding nothing rougher than the subway, he knows Billy the Kid, Three-Fingered Jack and Jesse James as well as if he'd bunked with them along the Santa Fe.

Sylvester Vigilante learned all he knows about the tough hordes of the American frontier during almost 50 years of work at the New York Public library and the New York Historical society. For many years he was chief of the library's American History room, but our western outlaws have always been his specialty.

"We don't have gangsters like them any more," says Vigilante. "Al Capone and 'Baby Face' Nelson were cream puffs by comparison."

Take as an example William H. Bonney, better known as Billy the Kid. "Actually, that's all Bonney was, a dumb kid, a punk," says Vigilante.

VIGILANTE believes that Billy might have grown up to be a law-abiding New York businessman, but while still a child, his family moved to Coffeyville in Kansas. Billy's father died, the family moved on to Colorado and young Bill began getting into scrapes with the law.

"Judging from the pictures we have," Vigilante says, "Billy might not have been so bad-tempered if his tonsils had been removed. An operation, some vitamin pills, maybe glasses and who knows? Billy might not have become such a problem child."

However, as fate had it, left-handed Billy killed his first man when he was only 12! Some say he killed a man for each year of his rugged life—21 all told. Before Billy reached 22, his chips were cashed in by a one-time friend who had turned sheriff, Pat Garrett.

According to the librarian, another man who turned renegade by sheer chance was Doc Holliday. Holliday was peacefully practicing dentistry in Tennessee when he contracted tuberculosis and had to forget his medical career.

Vigilante says that Doc was so bitter about his misfortune that he decided to start life all over again. So he headed west with a chip on one shoulder and a sawed-off shotgun on the other.

"Even Jesse James might never have gone astray," says Vigilante. "But because he'd fought for the Confederacy in the Civil war, his neighbors out on the Missouri-Kansas border wouldn't have anything more to do with him."

"Their snubs made Jesse mad. All he needed to keep him on the side of the law was some veterans' readjustment training."

The student of the wild west has two favorites among the characters of our pioneer days: Sheriff Bill Tighman of the Oklahoma territory and renegade Butch Cassidy of Wyoming.

"Butch was smarter than most outlaws in his time," Vigilante states. "Many of them were all most morons. And there is one thing that I admire about both these men—Tighman and Cassidy—they hardly ever killed a man unless, of course, it was absolutely necessary."

troit by way of Muncie, Lima and Toledo.

The airline previously applied for extensions from Detroit to Buffalo, from Youngstown to Buffalo, by way of Erie, Pa., and for routes between Cincinnati and Detroit by way of Dayton and Toledo, and between Chicago and Detroit.

Pope Says Sports 'Maintain Soul'

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII said today sports and physical exercise "maintain soul and body in happy harmony."

Speaking to a French railroad workers' sports club, the pope said: "Physical exercise, the discipline of games, the constancy of effort, maintain soul and body in a happy harmony and everyone knows that moral health profits from it greatly."

Fall Of Cards Said No Fault Of Managers

Change In Chieftains Makes No Difference; Even Pittsburgh Wins

The Associated Press

In his three years as manager, Eddie Stanky had been accused of overmanaging, upsetting clubhouse tranquillity and other odds and ends in an effort to explain why the St. Louis Cardinals looked good on paper but not in the National League standings.

Hoping a change "might make things better," the beer barons who own the club dispensed with Stanky and called in Harry (The Kat) Walker, a nice, easy-going fellow.

So what happens? The Cardinals lose 12 of 17, slip into seventh place and fall 20 games behind front-running Brooklyn.

When Stanky left May 27, the Cards were fifth, 10 games back.

Neither Stanky nor Walker can take the rap, apparently. Walker has received just five complete games, losing three of them, from his mound staff in the 17 contests.

That was the story Tuesday night. Pittsburgh, 4½ games behind St. Louis, belted starter Larry Jackson and Brooks Lawrence for eight runs in the fourth and won 10-5.

Dale Long hit a solo homer in the second and drove in three more runs on a double and bases-loaded single as 13 Bucs came to the plate in the big fourth.

The runaway Dodgers, meanwhile, stretched their lead to 11½ games, whipping Cincinnati 9-0 after the runner-up Chicago Cubs had lost to the Giants 5-0. Milwaukee beat Philadelphia and Robin Roberts 4-2.

In the American, the New York Yankees held on to their slim 2½-game lead by beating Detroit 7-6 in 10 innings. Second-place Chicago beat Baltimore 1-0 and third-place Cleveland took two from Washington, 6-4 in 11 innings and 3-1 on rookie Herb Score's two-hitter. Boston belted Kansas City 12-4.

Johnny Podres won his sixth for Brooklyn, blanking the Redlegs on seven hits. The Dodgers scored six in the second inning, routing loser Johnny Klippstein and Steve Ridzik, as Duke Snider smacked his 20th homer with two on.

At Milwaukee, Eddie Mathews put it away for the Braves with a two-run clout in the eighth. Mathews had three of the seven hits off Roberts. Lew Burdette was the winner.

The Giants, verbally spanked by Manager Leo Durocher the day before for their lack-luster play, smeared the Cubs with three runs in the second on homers by rookie Gail Harris and Willie Mays. It was the fourth major league home run for Harris—all in the last five games. Ruben Gomez won his third. Sam Jones lost his eighth.

A four-base throwing error by pitcher Al Aron capped a three-run ninth for the Yanks, with Andy Carey racing all the way around to score the tying run after hitting in front of the plate. Mickey Mantle then won it with a single in the 10th off George Zuverink after a walk and a single.

The Orioles' Saul Rogovin walked home the lone White Sox run in the eighth. Pitcher Jack Harshman made it four straight for Chicago.

Cleveland won its fifth straight in the nightcap at Washington as Score outlasted his wildness. He walked 11 and hit a batter while striking out six. The opener was won on Dale Mitchell's pinch single in the 11th after Ralph Kiner hit a pinch homer to tie it at 4-4 with two out in the ninth.

Norb Zauchin and Ted Williams batted in seven of the Red Sox runs in the slugfest at Boston. Zauchin homered in an eight-run third. Williams hit his fifth home run and doubled twice, lifting his average to .378.

Cubs Commanding 4 All-Star Spots

CHICAGO (AP)—Gene Baker of the Cubs took over the All Star baseball poll lead for second base in the National League today.

Baker, who celebrates his 30th birthday today, has 8,648 votes to 8,216 for Red Schoendienst of St. Louis.

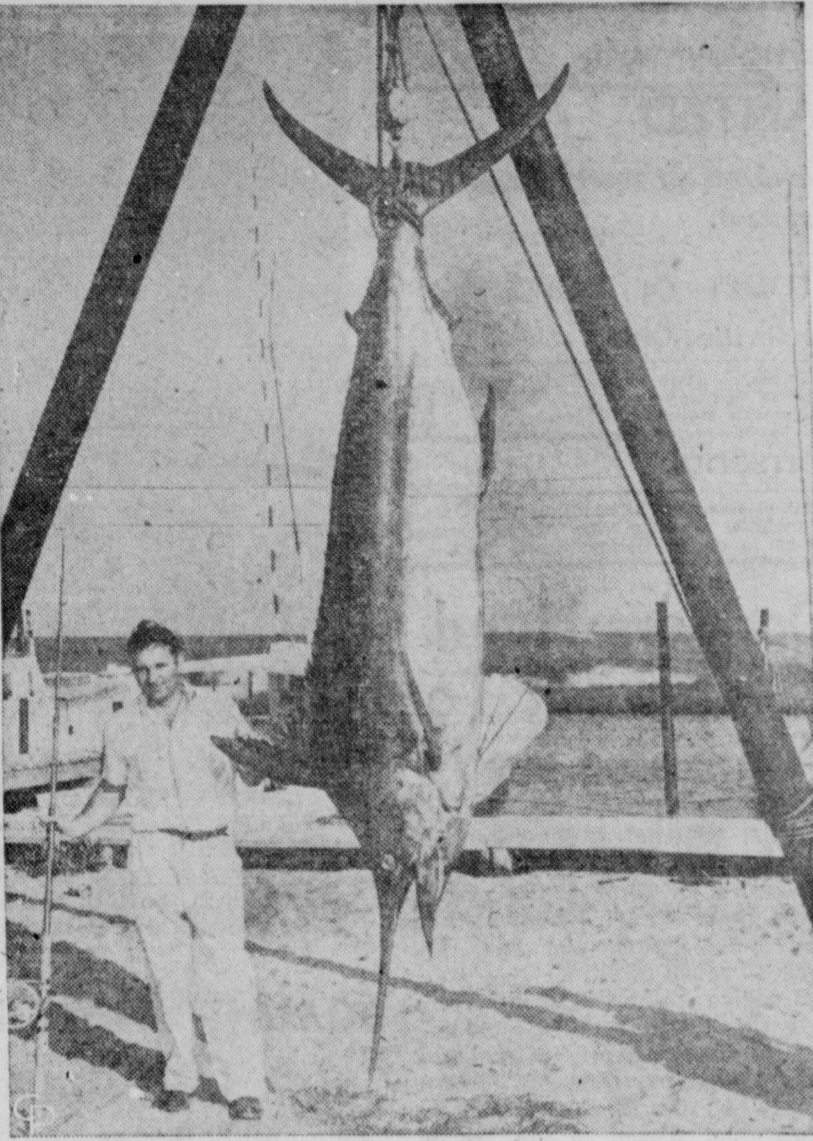

Baker's rise now places four Cubs in leading positions. Other Cubs leading at their respective positions are left fielder Bob Speake, shortstop Ernie Banks and third baseman Randy Jackson.

The balloting will decide the starting American and National League lineups for the game to be played in Milwaukee July 12.

Ameche To Play Against Browns

CHICAGO (AP)—Alan (The Horse) Ameche, record breaking fullback invitation to play in the College All Star football game against the champion Cleveland Browns, Aug. 12.

The All-America from Kenosha set a national collegiate record last year by finishing his career with a gain of 3,212 yards.

THIS GIANT blue marlin, weighing in at 464 pounds, gave Al Plews of Grenburnie, Md., a two and one-half hour battle before giving up. The marlin was landed near Diamond Lightship off the North Carolina Dare coast. Plews used a whole mackerel for bait and landed the fish on a 72-pound test line. (International)

Ashville '9' Loses To Columbus Team

With Irwin Insurance's top hurler, Dave Kraft, sidelined with injuries, the Ashville crew went down to a 5-3 defeat last weekend at the hands of Allen Milk, of Columbus.

The winners are presently leading the Sunday P. M. League. Four errors by the Ashville team aided in their loss.

Jack Hix, Ashville's other hurler, made his first start in a long time after being injured in a truck accident. Although the Allen Milk team got 13 hits off of him, better fielding on the part of his team mates might have made a difference to the Irwin team.

Next Sunday, the Ashville crew plays in Columbus. Line score follows:

Allen 001 200 002 — 5 13 1
Irwin 000 100 002 — 3 8 4

Bantam Champ Seeks Revenge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—NBA bantamweight champion Raul Macias was a 2½ to 1 favorite to defeat Billy Sweetpea Peacock tonight in a 10-round non-title fight.

An overflow crowd of more than 10,000 is expected to contribute about $50,000 to see the little Negro battler attempt to avenge the technical knockout he suffered at Macias' hands last year.

Macias has a perfect record of 14 for 14. Peacock has won 24 out of 33. Neither fighter has fought a draw. Both have six knockouts.

The bout will be televised nationally at 10 p. m. EST.

Rain Cancels 'Kid Baseball' Games Again

The late afternoon shower Tuesday caused postponement of the Mosquito, Pony and Junior League games at Ted Lewis Park.

Tonight, in the Junior League at 8:15 p. m., Circleville Koheisers will meet Jackson Township. The Elks and General Electric Little League game postponed Monday night will be played Friday night under the lights.

However, the Mosquito League contest between Purina and DuPont was played off Monday with Purina winning 8 to 2. Bruce Helwagon and Brad Schneider were the top hitters for the winners. A big crowd, estimated at 200, attended the game despite the bad weather.

LINE SCORE FOLLOWS:
Purina 0 1 2 2 3 — 8
DuPont 0 0 0 1 1 — 2
Helwagon, Hannahs (4); Hannahs.
Grant, Hatcher (4); Barnhill.

Man wanted to work in dynamite factory. Must be willing to travel.

The above ad appeared in a French newspaper. We often wonder who took that job.

And speaking of traveling where would you go to find anything that would clean carpets like the new Triple Strength Fina Foam.

It's made from an entirely new formula. You add water to turn one gallon of concentrate into three gallons of ready to use foam cleaner.

Another innovation is the long handled brush to apply the foam that makes cleaning so easy. The nap is left open and fluffy. The dirt is removed consequently there is no rapid resoling. One gallon of concentrate for $2.25 cleans three 9x12 rugs. Get Fina Foam at HARPSTER & YOST

Dodgers Hand Whitewash To Fumbling Reds CINCINNATI (AP)—Brooklyn, leading the National League by 11 1/2 games, last night whitewashed Cincinnati 9-0 in the first of a three game series. Johnny Podres scored the shutout and held the Reds to seven hits.

Brooklyn gathered 15 hits from four Cincinnati pitchers including a busy second inning when Duke Snider socked a three-run homer.

It was his 20th this season. Three other runs scored in the second frame. For Podres, it was his seventh triumph and third over the Reds, who used three pitchers in the frame.

Buster Freeman finally succeeded in ringing up the third out after 11 men had batted.

Freeman held the Dodgers to two runs and six hits from the third through the seventh. Ex-Brooklyn hurler Joe Black, facing his former mates for the first time, prevented any runs in the final two frames.

Podres, 22-year-old righthander, permitted only one Red player to get as far as third while setting seven of them down on strikes.

His most anxious time was in the first when the Reds succeeded in getting men on second and third with one out. But Podres turned on the heat to fan Wally Post and Gus Bell.

Starter Johnny Klippstein was routed in the second to take his fourth loss this season.

The Reds yesterday sent utility outfielder Bob Borkowski to the Dodgers as part of the deal in which Cincinnati obtained Black.

Black was purchased last week for an estimated $25,000 in cash and one player.

Tribe Cops 2 Against Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pinch hits by Ralph Kiner and Dale Mitchell and some wild but effective pitching by Herb Score pushed Cleveland's Indians last night to within three games of first place.

The Tribe gained a half game on the league-leading New York Yankees by taking a doubleheader from the Washington Nats, 6-4 and 3-1. New York beat Detroit in a single game.

Kiner, hitting with two out in the opener's ninth inning, tied the score with his ninth home run of the season. Two innings later Dale Mitchell, another clutch hitter, singled home Dave Philley with what turned out to be the winner. Philley singled and advanced on Ray Nleski's sacrifice.

Score walked 11 Nats in the second game, but gave up only two hits in marking up his seventh victory against four losses. Twice his wildness filled the bases but each time he kept the Nats from scoring.

He hit one batter and walked two others in the fourth and in the sixth he walked three.

The Nats scored their only run against him in the first inning when Eddie Yost walked, Ed Fitzgerald singled and Johnny Groth hit a fly.

DAVY CROCKETT

Houston didn't wait a single minute when he heard England had gone to war against his country. As was the custom in those days he took up a silver dollar off the recruiting drum and put it in his pocket to show he was Uncle Sam's man, ready to defend his country.

When the Creek Indians, too, went on the warpath against the Americans, Sam, Davy Crockett and others followed General Andy Jackson to a place called Horseshoe Bend in Alabama, where the Creek Red Sticks had holed up. Houston was first over the wall.

Though shot in the leg with an arrow, Houston snatched up a gun and chased down a ravine after the retreating Red Sticks. Sam was shot again in the shoulder and arm but the soldiers took heart from his courage, went in and mopped up the last of those red varmints.

Houston was wounded so bad he liked to have died right there on the battlefield, but an Army surgeon patched him up and his comrades put him on a horse litter to bring him home to Tennessee. Sam was so tough the whole Red Stick nation couldn't do him in!

NCAA Baseball Field Thinned

OMAHA (AP)—Western Michigan, Wake Forest and Oklahoma A. and M. were set today for a dog-fight over the NCAA college world series pennant.

All three teams have a 3-1 record in play thus far. Tonight either Wake Forest or the Oklahoma Aggies will bow out when they meet to see who tangles with Western Michigan tomorrow in the title game.

The Aggies, sent Arizona to the sidelines yesterday in a 5-4 thriller that went 12 innings.

Moore Troubled By Extra Weight

NEW YORK (AP)—With the light heavyweight championship fight pitting titlist Archie Moore against challenger Carl (Bobo) Olson just a week away, one big problem came to light today: Moore is having a tough time getting down to the 175-pound light heavyweight limit.

Moore was listed as weighing 196½ when he licked Nino Valdes in Las Vegas May 2. That means he's having to shed 21½ pounds in seven weeks, a mighty tough task.
